oldest institutions in eastern India. It has a glorious past with a rich alumni base. Now Patna College is a constituent unit of Patna University. It has a limited scope for autonomous decision making. Beginning of new programmes, development of statutes and ordinances are largely decided by the university which the college just follows. The college has a heritage building which is its asset. For the past few decades there is a serious faculty crunch which can be addressed only by the state government. For financial resources the college is totally dependent on the university which is further dependent on the state government. The college gives primacy to teaching and many criteria of NAAC assessment and documentation remain ignored because of a huge human resource crunch. This is the first cycle of assessment and the rubrics of NAAC have not percolated into the college administrative system so well. The college has taken initiatives for improvement after its accreditation and
