Prof. Sanjay Kumar Sinha
Principal

Welcome to the first edition of PC Vibes!

PC Vibes is the result of a good bull-session over a cup of coffee with colleagues.

Preparations for the Foundation Day of the college were well under way and we could not think of a better way to celebrate the birth month of the college than to start a monthly newsletter to showcase the goings-on on the campus throughout the month. Focus is on documenting our experiments and achievements and keeping the students, faculty and other stakeholders updated with the campus buzz.

PC Vibes is a small but certain step towards unlocking potential. It is about getting out of our comfort zone and turning our "shoulds" into "musts".

Kudos to our young team of editors for their rapid response to new responsibility!

Well done!

Way to go!

Editors' Note

Dr. Richa

Dr. Naqui Ahmad John

Mr. Avinash Kumar

Dr. Surya Nath Singh

PC Vibes is a humble attempt to collate the activities, the buzz and the vibes of our vibrant Patna College. The campus is ever alive with its soulful acceptance and inclusivity of multiple voices, some noise, some views and some news. PC Vibes will try to capture them all or at least as much as possible. Documenting the vibes of our Patna College is a little challenging but extremely interesting and certainly important. Known as the 'Oxford of the East', the college has produced many scholars, administrators and artists and we are sure that it will keep on doing so. We attempt to make a democratic and unbiased space for the documentation of academic and cultural activities. Documenting and publishing the activities of an institution as important as Patna College is very significant. It is bound to go down in the annals of the history of Bihar. Doing so is a huge responsibility and we would like to give it our best. We are open to your valuable suggestions.
